

The Shipowners' Club extends partnership with ISWAN to better Psychological Wellbeing at Sea

Following the success of our Crew Health campaign, the Club is pleased to announce that it will extend its partnership with the International Seafarers' Welfare and Assistance Network (ISWAN) to deliver a series of articles on Psychological Wellbeing at Sea.

Claims related to poor mental health are becoming more apparent to the Club. In an effort to address this trend, the Club has partnered with ISWAN, an international charity dedicated to the relief of need, hardship or distress of seafarers.

Louise Hall, Director – Loss Prevention commented: 'The Shipowners' Club is committed to assisting seafarers in achieving positive mental health whilst on board. With this in mind, we are pleased to announce our decision to extend our partnership with ISWAN to provide a series of Good Mental Health Guides which aim to raise awareness of psychological wellbeing and assist Members in highlighting this to their crews.'
